The National Socio-Environmental Synthesis Center (SESYNC) organizes the Annapolis Café Scientifique—a place where, for the price of a cup of coffee or a glass of wine, anyone can come to explore the latest ideas in science and technology.

There is never a cover charge for Café Scientifique!

Please note: seating is limited.

Reservations are strongly suggested and sometimes required depending on attendance. Please call \(410\) 626-9796 to guarantee your seat or, just as importantly, to cancel your reservation so someone on the waitlist may attend.

About this Café

Elizabeth Daut [2] is a veterinarian and a postdoctoral fellow at SESYNC. Her research is focused on social and ecological drivers and consequences of wildlife use, conservation medicine, and disease ecology, particularly in developing countries. She has experience in wildlife management and management in both the US and South America, where she created then ran an animal welfare organization called Fundación de Protección Animal for almost 10 years with the goal of improving local law enforcement and decreasing domestic consumer demand for wild animals pets and wildlife products. Her current project is investigating the risk of introducing infectious disease to native U.S. wildlife populations from the importation of exotic and wild animals for the pet industry.
