Now that you have received support from SESYNC, we encourage you to share the news! Some groups have been able to access data that wouldn’t have been accessible before or met with organizations (ie. National Security personnel) that were difficult to reach without the SESYNC affiliation. Here are some tools to help you describe and promote your research in writing or talking:

- Toolkit [1]
- Tutorials [2]
- Additional Resources [3]

We encourage you to reach out to communications@sesync.org [4] with any questions.

SESYNC is funded through an award to the University of Maryland [5] from the National Science Foundation [6].
